Coaching holds up a mirror, reflecting your true potential. Through International Coaching Week (ICW), we'll be inviting attendees around the world to look into their own mirror, empowering them to transform, to be transformed, and bring inspiration to many.

Since 1999, our global community of passionate individuals has made ICW the most anticipated coaching event of the year. Thanks to the dedication of coaches like you, we've brought the power of coaching to a growing worldwide audience.

Last year, more than 35,000 people from 137 countries came together to experience and celebrate the magic of professional coaching. And I know that together, as one ICF, we can make an even wider, deeper impact during ICW 25.

Inside this guide you'll find a wealth of resources designed to ensure your ICW events are a resounding success. You'll find invaluable tips, a checklist to manage related tasks, toolkits, and templates. Whether you are planning webinars, conferences, educational workshops, or public coaching demonstrations, this guide can help you present an extraordinary ICW celebration that will energize members, enable individuals and organizations in your community to experience coaching, and amplify the story of coaching using traditional and social media.

Thank you for your willingness to participate in ICW 25. I am thrilled that you are a part of this empowering global movement, and I look forward to celebrating you and celebrating with you.

Here's to a week where we inspire, transform, and thrive through coaching!

Highlights for 2025

- Dedicated ICW branding and identity, including a series of turnkey materials for our chapters and members.
- ICF chapters have an option to receive a customized ICW marketing pack translated into their local language. This pack consists of logo files, graphic elements, a PowerPoint template, a Zoom background, and social media banners. This will reinforce the local impact as we know that most local events are organized in local languages. It also ensures consistent branding around the world.
- ICF chapters and members will have access to the ICW events platform to create and manage their events or simply redirect participants to their registration platforms. This makes it easy for participants to register and see the whole ICW offering and allow us to track the number of ICW events, countries, regions, languages, chapters, members involved, etc.

Some of the features offered by this events platform include:

For members/chapters:

- Ability to create, post, and manage ICW events from their personal login on the platform.
- Powerful tool to promote events on social media through shortcut links.
- Option to generate and send automated messages (registration confirmation, event reminders, thank you messages) in a variety of languages.
- Feature to upload slide decks and recordings of events, which are archived and available all yearlong.
- Chapters creating events on the new platform will have access a special feature to automate the sending of ICW CCE certificates.
- Tutorials to explain how to use and maximize the features of the platform.
- Possibility to redirect participants to chapter registration platforms.

For participants:

- One place to view ICW events scheduled around the world in a variety of languages and time zones.
- Ability to use filters to select the best event for their needs.
- Registration in real time and in full compliance with GDPR.
- Automatically generated confirmation email after registration, reminders prior to the event, and satisfaction survey.
- Thank you message after participation including a direct link to make a donation to the ICF Foundation.
- After ICW, there will be access to recordings and slide decks of many events.
- ICW promotion on ICF social media to generate more interest from the public for ICW and stream participants to the ICF event platform.

Be Inspired

Consider adopting one of these tactics — all of which have been used successfully by ICF chapters — to raise awareness of professional coaching in your community during ICW.

- Provide complimentary laser coaching sessions to introduce coaching to your community.
- Collaborate with a local nonprofit organization whose mission and values align with those of ICF to host a panel discussion or deliver pro bono coaching to its clients.
- Educate yourself and your members on how to leverage traditional and social media to spread the word about professional coaching and its benefits and impact.
- Invite ICF members to engage and create micro-events, webinars, and coaching demonstrations under the ICW umbrella (posted and managed through the ICW event platform).
- Identify a corporate partner and deliver workshops and coaching demonstrations to promote the value of coaching in the workplace.
- Invite nonprofit organizations to your ICF chapter's meeting/webinars to share their stories and meet prospective volunteer coaches.
- Transcend geographic boundaries by delivering ICW events via webinar platforms. Feel free to enter conversations with your regional development manager to discuss access to platforms available for large online events.
- If your ICF chapter maintains a blog, plan a series of daily posts during ICW. Don't forget to share links on your chapter's social media channels!
- Capture and share video testimonials from business and nonprofit leaders who have experienced the benefits of coaching firsthand.
- Reach out to government officials to secure public proclamations in honor of ICW.

11 Tips for Success

Advance the coaching profession and enable members of your community to experience coaching with these tips for staging a successful International Coaching Week (ICW) celebration.

1. Plan a signature event to raise awareness of coaching.

As the centerpiece of your ICW celebration, craft an event based on the strengths of your chapter's members and the needs of your community. Consider incorporating the "Coaching 101" presentation from the ICW toolkit.

2. Start an ICW countdown.

Use your chapter's social media accounts to publicize a countdown to ICW. Use the hashtag: #CoachingWeek.

3. Keep the conversation going.

Word-of-mouth is your best friend. Spread the word about your chapter's ICW celebration at meetings, in conversations with friends and neighbors, and during checkout-line chats at the store, and encourage your fellow coaches and chapter members to do the same.

4. Tap into ICF's ICW resources.

Download the ICW toolkit from the ICF Digital Resource Center for tools and resources to help you plan and promote your event. To stay on track, use the ICW checklist.

5. Engage local coaches and help them participate.

ICW is the perfect opportunity to grow the global ICF community! Invite qualified local coaches to participate in your chapter's activities, and share with them information about the value of ICF membership. Find related resources in the Member Toolkit.

6. Extend your borders.

If your chapter covers a large geographic territory, consider leveraging technology to host a virtual event or organizing multiple, smaller events.

7. Reach out to local officials.

Contact public officials and share about the proven benefits of professional coaching. Ask them to consider a public proclamation in recognition of ICW, and don't forget to invite them to your chapter's events! The request for proclamation template from the ICW toolkit can assist you with this.

8. Be a media maven.

Contact the most popular outlets in your community to get the word out about your chapter's ICW celebration. Use the media alert template from the ICW toolkit to make communication easy.

9. Leverage the ICF brand.

ICW is an opportunity for ICF chapters around the world to use one consistent, relevant ICF voice to promote the proven power of coaching. With this in mind, use ICF chapter names, colors, logos and fonts and the ICW logos, hashtag (#CoachingWeek) and branding consistently as you promote and stage ICW events.

10. Seek out sponsors.

Don't do it all alone! Reach out to businesses in your community, as well as to chapter members and their coaching practices, to raise sponsorship dollars. (You will find a sponsor outreach email template in the ICW toolkit.)

11. Have long-term impact.

Use ICW to kick off a sustainable pro bono coaching program in your community. Use tips and tools from the ICF Foundation's Resource Suite of Tools to help turn your inspiring idea into a long-term, positive impact on your community.

If you send a calendar invitation or email to the attendees of your session, please do so in a confidential manner ensuring attendee names and email addresses are not visible to other attendees. Use your email provider's BCC line to achieve this.
